Chennai is city generating huge job opportunity and as possibility of increasing in area so there is lot infrastructure yet to get developed, Also surrounded by ports which is required for import and export. Due to this reasons housing prices is costly in chennai.

> The robust development of infrastructure, particularly in the micro-markets of Noida and Gurugram, has played a major role in the boom of Delhi-NCR's real estate market. This boom comes after the sluggish trend in the last few years. Rental prices for residential properties have also increased exponentially.
